Copyediting

because editing matters

Get a Free Class with Membership!

Dear <<First Name>>,

As a dedicated Copyediting Weekly reader, you know the quality we offer on the Copyediting blog. Every week, we teach you new skills and update you on what's happening in the world of editing.

But did you know that we publish even better content in our premium newsletter, Copyediting newsletter?

Our bimonthly newsletter dives deeper into topics that copyeditors value. Here's a peek at what's in our upcoming April-May issue (even our paid members don't know this yet!):

- I teach you to save your author from the "fake news" label through fact-checking.
- Katharine O'Moore-Klopf discusses working on objectionable content.
- Karen Yin coaches readers through removing blame from stories on sexual violence.
- Grant Barrett and Mark Peters talk about alternative facts and fascism.
- And much, much more!
